About us

The Centre for Volunteering is a not-for-profit organisation which connects and promotes volunteers and volunteering organisations, to help strengthen communities. Our members are mainly not-for-profit organisations, large and small, across all sectors. We also work with government and corporate organisations.

- Volunteer Referral Service
Our most popular member benefit, this service is a not-for-profit recruitment agency for volunteers and community organisations seeking volunteers. Our referral service advertises for, recruits, interviews and refers volunteers to not-for-profit organisations based on their skills, and suitability, saving our members' precious time and resources. The volunteers benefit from our guidance in helping match them with a role that meets their expectations, skills and availability.
- School of Volunteer Management
The Centre provides nationally-recognised qualifications in volunteering, community services and training – from certificate to diploma level. We also offer short courses and workshops for individuals and organisations. Our school is a Registered Training Organisation (RTO).
